What's ODSE???

Purpose of ODSE

- Retrieves data through Impromptu from the mainframe (3270), which enables administrators to quickly and efficiently retrieve, analyze, and report manpower information.

UDMIPS Vs. ODSE

- UDMIPS users connect to the CUDDB, which is dependent upon the TRECON and only allows access to information for one RUC/ARUC.
- ODSE users connect to one of the deployed servers, which retrieves data directly from the mainframe (3270).

So how do we get ODSE?

Access to ODSE

- Two requirements to access ODSE:
  - An active ODSE account.
  - ODSE catalogs installed on the PC.

ODSE Account

- To request an ODSE account, email the following information to the MISSO:
  - Last Name, First Name, Middle Initial
  - Grade
  - SSN
  - Email Address
  - RUC and MCC
  - Date Joined Present Unit

Changing Your Password

- Once the MISSO creates your ODSE account, change your password at the following website:

https://smarts.kct.usmc.mil/Security/login.asp

Installation of the ODSE Catalogs

- Non-UDMIPS Users
  - Contact the MISSO to schedule an appointment for installation.
- UDMIPS Users
  - May utilize the ODSE web install to download the catalogs, provided they have administrative rights to the computer.

Create a Crosstab Report

Crosstab Report

- Crosstab Report
  - Crosstab reports provide a different perspective of your data. A crosstab report summarizes information in a concise table of rows and columns that shows the value at the intersection point of each row and column.

Saving a Report as an IMR File

- You may save a report as an IMR file, which will open the report through ODSE.
- Keep in mind that the information returned on the IMR file will change according to Unit Diary input and scheduled MCTFS cycles.

- You may save ODSE reports as file types other than IMR, like Excel files (XLS).
- Useful when you need to supply information to a non-ODSE user, or to maintain information retrieved at a specific time for future reference.
